

Deadline in Douglas Probe to Be Ignored

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House subcommittee probing the affairs of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas is expected to ignore its second deadline today and remain silent on whether impeachment proceedings should be brought against the jurist.

"We'll probably have some kind of report when the House reconvenes" in mid-September, said Rep. Byron G. Rogers, D-Colo., a member of the five-man Judiciary Committee panel.

He declined to say whether the committee will make a recommendation or issue a progress report and request more time like it did on the June 20 deadline.

Leaders of the drive to impeach Douglas for writing "Points of Rebellion," a court vote and association with a gambling-connected foundation have accused the subcommittee of dragging its feet.

Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., has served notice he will try to take the Douglas investigation away from the Judiciary Committee when the House reconvenes.

Meanwhile Douglas' backers are arguing to the Judiciary Committee it must determine not only whether House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford's charges against the justice are accurate but whether they're impeachable offenses.

Rep. Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., said in a letter to Judiciary members that all but one of Ford's charges deal with Douglas' off-the-bench activities and thus would not be grounds for impeachment even if proved.

Douglas' lawyer, Simon H. Rifkind, contends a justice can be impeached only for criminal conduct.

But "conscience of Congress" power to determine when a justice's conduct should remove him from office is defended in a memorandum written for Ford by two Detroit lawyers, Bethel B. Kelley and Daniel G. Wyllie.

"If a judge's misbehavior is so grave as to cast substantial doubt upon his integrity," says criminate on the basis of race in pupil assignments.

Schools that violate orders or agreements can be taken to court or, less likely, face termination of federal education funds.

More difficult to determine is whether desegregation will end at the school house door, as some civil rights spokesmen have predicted, with classrooms being segregated.

Despite a spring and summer push to bring the remaining segregated districts into line, there are some that still may begin the year on a segregated basis.

Of the 725 Southern districts that had not been desegregated by the end of the 1969-70 school year, 159 were not under court orders or formal agreements by late last week.

Of that number, about half are in litigation, initiated either by the government or by private groups, or in negotiations with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The remainder are districts which federal officials say cannot be reached by present school desegregation laws. None receive federal education funds and no parents of black children have filed complaints with the Justice Department.

Most of these districts are in Georgia, Arkansas, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

the Kelley-Wyllie memorandum, "he must be removed from office regardless of all other considerations."

Ford's only charge of improper court activity by Douglas is that the Justice accepted $350 for an article in publisher Ralph Ginzberg's Avant Garde magazine and later ruled in favor of Ginzberg in an action against his magazine ROS.

Rifkind says Douglas had no way of knowing Avant Garde was a Ginzberg publication and even if he had known, his action was not improper.

Ford and Wyman also said Douglas should be impeached for writing "Points of Rebellion," a book they called inflammatory and for allowing an excerpt of the books to appear in Evergreen magazine between pictures of nude men and women which Ford called hardcore pornography.

third in the 1948 Democratic gubernatorial primary. The voting in the Democratic primary will be former Gov. Orval E. Faubus' first test of his political strength since he retired from office in January 1967 after serving six two-year terms.

Predictions have been that Faubus, 60, would lead his seven rivals in Tuesday's preferential vote, but he has said he does not believe he can win the party nomination without a runoff.

Others in the Democratic race include Joe Purcell, 46, seeking promotion for the attorney general's office, Speaker Hayes McClerkin, 38, of the Arkansas House and former state Rep. Bill Wells, 40, of Hermitage. Other than Faubus, they were the only Democrats in the race who were politically known before the campaign began.

The other Democratic candidates are lawyers Dale Bumbers, 45, of Charleston and Robert C. Compton, 41, of El Dorado and businessman James M. Malone Jr., 43, of Lenoire and W. S. Cheek, 48, of West Memphis.

Walter Carruth of Lexa, the American Party candidate, will oppose the Democratic and GOP nominees in the November general election.

State Sen. Richard Earl Griffin of Crossett and Ray H. Thornton Jr. of Sheridan oppose each other in the Democratic race for attorney general, one of the most heated contests of the campaign. The Republicans offered no attorney general candidate, but the Democratic nominee will be faced in November by John Norman War-nock of Camden, the American Party candidate.

The six men running for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor are Odus O. Wilson of North Little Rock, Bill L. Nelson of Rogers, state Rep. James H. Harrell of Russellville, Dr. Bob Riley of Arkansas, Paul Mah of Dumas and Kenneth C. Coffelt of Jacksonville.

ADVISERS.

President will review the economic situation, including the administration's program to slow inflation.

A new evaluation of the economic picture could come from administration officials after the meeting.

Nixon confers this afternoon with eight business executives. They are members of the Business Council Liaison Committee, an independent group of businessmen who meet periodically with the President to exchange views on financial-economic matters.

In the area of foreign policy, Nixon has set up the third in a series of briefings for news media executives—this time some 60 newspaper editors and broadcast executives from 13 western states.

After welcoming remarks by Nixon, they'll settle down to discussions of such matters as Vietnam and the Middle East. Nixon's national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, and Asst. Secretary of State Joseph Sisco will be among the administration briefers.

Nixon will entertain the visiting news executives at a pool-side luncheon reception at his house.

In another social outing, President and Mrs. Nixon, plus a party of Cabinet, White House staff and officials and their wives will go to Los Angeles Thursday night to attend the opening performance of the "Musical Theater Cavalcade" at the Los Angeles Music Center.

$5.2 Billion Public Works Bill Passes

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In its second try at it, the Senate passed today a $5.2 billion public works appropriations bill carrying funds for the Atomic Energy Commission, pollution control grants and water projects.

The vote was 62 to 1, with Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., casting the lone no vote.

The Senate debated the bill Friday and tried to pass it but only 49 Senators showed up for the vote. This was two short of a necessary quorum. Unable to muster the two needed votes the Senate was forced to adjourn.

The bill carries a total of $5,258,695,000, which is some $21 million above the total in the bill when it passed the House

McClerkin said that shortly after being elected he would meet with "various leaders of the education establishment and determine the consensus of opinion of the group concerning our perennial problems regarding the opening of school each fall."

He said he would then pass the opinions on to federal officials. "It is hoped that through a fair and equitable interpretation of the law, we can develop a sensible solution to the problems facing the school systems, and return stability to our educational system," McClerkin said.

In a television appearance Saturday night, Bumpers said education should be given top priority in the state.

The Man For The Job

Democrat For.... Lieutenant Governor

Bob Riley will jokingly say that the eye patch is an attempt to mimic a famous Israeli general or a movie star, but the patch is really the result of what happened to a young Marine on Guam late in World War II — a Marine who quit Little Rock High School in December of 1941 to enlist.

Next, after a long stay at various hospitals, that young Marine became Bob Riley student at the University of Arkansas, a man who overcame handicaps and made an outstanding academic record.

Even though he was attending college, he found time to serve in the Arkansas House for four years and introduced the bill that resulted in construction of War Memorial Stadium at Little Rock.

Leaving the University in the 1950s with a PH.D, Bob Riley began a teaching career — giving Ouachita University students a participant's view of history and political science.

Each year he became more and more active in his church, until many Sundays found him filling a pulpit somewhere. And Bob Riley didn't forget state government. He served on boards and commissions and as parliamentarian for the Arkansas House.

During these years he was also mayor of Arkadelphia and was engaged in other civic activities.

Now Bob Riley is seeking to serve the people of Arkansas again and is asking you to

Denies Charge Premium Paid for Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — B. F. Griffin, former director of the state Employees Retirement Fund, has denied a charge by state Sen. Richard E. Griffin of Crossett that the fund bought bonds at a price higher than market value from Stephens Inc.

Griffin, a Democratic candidate for attorney general, told the Legislative Joint Auditing Committee Friday that the bonds had been bought from Stephens Inc. for more than the market value. The committee agreed to investigate Griffin's charges.

Griffin opposes Ray Thornton Jr. for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. Thornton's uncle, Jack Stephens, heads the investment firm.

Griffin told the committee that the prices listed for the bonds for the same day by a competitive firm were lower than the prices paid by the fund.

Friday said in a prepared statement that the "Arkansas state retirement system has been cited as one of the soundest in the nation, after being audited at the national level."

Friday said that annual audits of the fund's accounts had been made by the Legislative Joint Auditing Committee.

"According to the last report of the American Investment Bankers Association, the yield on the system's investments is greater than any other state system in America, with the exception of Delaware," Friday said.

He said he resented the "implications which reflect on my integrity or the soundness of the state retirement system during my administration" as a result of Griffin's charges.

CHILDREN AREN'T OLD AGE INSURANCE

Dear Helen:

We adopted a boy from a very deprived family when he was five years old. He would have been nothing without us, but because of the good education we gave him, and the ambition we instilled in him (we put him through high school and he worked his way through college), he has turned out very successful.

He now has a good job in California. We would like to retire early and live in the west. His apartment will hold us, and he is a bachelor. Later on we might get a house together.

Lately his letters have been urging my husband not to retire, and he's been talking down California. I get the feeling he doesn't want us. Is this any way for a son to act? After all, we gave him everything for many years! —LEFT OUT

Dear L.O.:

Counter question: Did you adopt and raise this boy out of love, or for old age insurance? I don't think you've ever learned that to keep children always close you must early on start letting them go. —H.

Dear Helen:

If I took my 12-year-old sister away from our parents would I be charged with kidnapping?

She is being treated as I was when I grew up under their rule. Helen, my mother and father are sick. They're subjecting my sister to the kind of cruel emotional and mental torment that put me in intensive therapy when I was 18. She is treated as an object rather than a person, used as a built-in, free-of-charge cleaning woman and baby-sitter for three young brothers who can do no wrong. She is the general scapegoat in a household which considers women as slaves.

Moreover, she gets some rather lavish attention (at times) from a father she fears. I'm sure you can imagine the confusion and guilt this produces.

I can't bring charges, for there is nothing definite — yet. All I know is what happened to me, and history is repeating itself. I'm now happily married and living in another state. How can I legally bring my sister up here to live with us? — WORRIED SISTER

Dear Sister:

You can't legally take a child away from her parents without court approval, but perhaps you can work a short vacation visit into an extended stay, if you use the right persuasion—backed up with a doctor's diagnosis and hints that you might ask for further investigation.

Seek advice from the Child Welfare Agency in your city. While it can't initiate action, someone there may have a suggestion which will help. — H.

Dear Helen:

You may not agree, but here is my definition of a Free Society:

People talk of sex education in schools while prayer is banned; legalizing abortion while they put people in jail for murder; legalizing gambling when our crime rate is skyrocketing.

People are granted divorces for adultery, men put in jail for rape, while sex is everywhere you look—in books, movies, schools, TV. Parents want their girls to remain pure and righteous while letting them parade around half nude; their boys to be good citizens, husbands, and fathers, while letting them smoke, drink, grow long hair, etc.

Women Rallies Demand Equality With Men

By JOE NICHOLSON JR.

Women plan to demand equality with men in rallies from coast to coast Wednesday, the day of a National Women's strike against menial jobs and kitchen work.

Leaders of the women's liberation movement, who called the strike to coincide with the 50th anniversary of women's suffrage, say strike activities will include seminars, marches and the beginning of a nationwide boycott of five products that the movement contends insult women in their advertisements.

The National Organization of Women—NOW—said it would identify the five products in New York Wednesday. NOW said the products treat women as "deodorized young meat."

The strike's goals are job equality, free day-care centers and free abortions.

NOW launched its strike week activities Sunday at a service in the Arlington Street Unitarian-Universalist Church in Boston. Betty Friedan, founder of the organization and author of "The Feminine Mystique," predicted millions of women would boycott their jobs and close down their kitchens Wednesday.

"Bring your babies to the office," she said, "and sit them on the bosses' lap." She urged women to spend Wednesday "analyzing the conditions which keep us from being what we might be."

In Adams, Mass., Sunday, 10,000 persons stood in a steady rain to watch a march honoring Susan B. Anthony, the women's suffrage leader who was born there in 1820.

On Wednesday, the 50th anniversary of ratification of the amendment, the Post Office Department will issue a 6-cent postage commemorative stamp.

In Chicago, a taped message from Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., a leader in the drive to care for when there are so many means of birth control (including abstinence). People talk of trial marriages like they were trying a new deodorant!

If a free society means you're not safe on the streets or even in your own home any more, I'm — NOT FOR IT

Dear Not:

As a basic optimist, I try to give more than equal time to pessimists, but really, I think there's hope for this free society. The good still outweighs the bad. —H.

pass a constitutional amendment guaranteeing equal rights for women, will be played at a rally in downtown Grant Park.

Phyllis Berry, president of the Equal Rights Alliance, a Chicago women's liberation group which is advocating a one-day buying boycott, said, "The boycott is something all women can do."

Mary Jean Collins-Robson, president of NOW in Chicago, said some women have organized seminars on women's rights in their neighborhoods or offices. Other women plan to hand out leaflets at railroad stations.

In Philadelphia, Maren Jasin, one of the organizers of a rally at Rittenhouse Square, said, "This isn't a bra-burning, male-hating affair. The activities will depict the many aspects of women's participation in society. We will present a positive image of women's liberation and rights and not all this sensationalism."

The Philadelphia activities, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., are to include exhibits, tables for literature distribution and an open house at the women's liberation center.

Miss Red, White and Blue will be selected at a mock beauty pageant at the end of the Philadelphia activities.

"Up Against a Wall, Miss America," a documentary film on a demonstration that disrupted the pageant in Atlantic City in 1968, will be shown as part of women's liberation activities at Princeton University.

Princeton, a male bastion until last fall, is scheduled to be the focal point in New Jersey for strike activities.

In Houston, the NOW chapter announced plans to picket the federal building in support of the constitutional amendment declaring equality for women.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What happens when a beautiful singing star becomes the nonsinging heroine of a situation comedy series? She changes her nightclub act, for one thing, to include some reference to her television act.

Diahann Carroll, a slender beauty with skin like cafe au lait and a twinkle in her eye, learned this summer during a vacation from television that she has, like it or not, a double identity.

"It was very unexpected," Miss Carroll said in a tone that held just a suggestion of hurt feelings. "I'd been singing almost all my life and I thought a lot of people knew it. And it felt just great to be back doing it again."

"But there was always somebody out in the crowd who'd call out 'Hey Julia, where's Corey?'"

Diahann plays a registered nurse named Julia in an NBC series of the same name and is supposed to be the widowed mother of a small son named Corey. In real life she is the divorced mother of a 9-year-old daughter.

"But anyway, now I beat them to it and explain I'm up there because Corey needs a new tricycle," she said with resignation.

Female nightclub performers specialize in elaborate, breath-taking gowns that glitter and cost a small fortune.

"I say that while my gown may not look like Julia's, it is going to be my uniform next season but not to worry because I'll still be wearing a starched cape."

As "Julia" starts its third season next month, she really will be in a new uniform—and of those pants suits with bands that real-life nurses are beginning to wear.

Paul Kantner, creator and producer of the series, is making more changes than that. Already in the cast is Fred Williamson, a former football star who will be Julia's steady romantic interest. While wedding bells are not expected to ring for this couple, Laurence Tuttle's character, nurse Hannah Varby, will marry a rich businessman, played by Cesar Romero, and depart to live in Syracuse, N.Y.

This may disappoint viewers who enjoyed the sordid lines exchanged between Varby and Lloyd Nolan's growling Dr. Chegley. Kantner, however, seems determined to make a slight correction in course for the series.

BROTHER. CRY for ME

Dear Friends,

You have all been so kind to us during the past three months of campaigning. Thank you for inviting us into your homes to discuss our mutual hopes for Hempstead County.

Our greatest thrill has been to meet and visit with most all of our fellow Hempstead Countians.

We have sincerely tried to see each and every one of you, but if you were missed, please give us the opportunity to visit with you soon.

Tomorrow you will choose the man whose privilege it will be to serve Hempstead County in the Arkansas House of Representatives.

I sincerely want to be that man — to serve you in the Arkansas Legislature.

If you elect me, I Pledge

... to work to bring progress to our county, but to work to keep it a great place to live and raise a family.

... to honor your right to know what is going on in the Arkansas Legislature and to be available to help you at all times.

... to work full time for Hempstead County, not just when the House is in session.

I promise to do my best for you and for Hempstead County, and I appreciate your vote and support.

Ark. Tech Preseason Favorite

By HARRY KING

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State College of Arkansas' defensive unit spent one evening at Russellville last fall chasing Arkansas Tech quarterback John Pirpich.

"I didn't realize how fast he was until track season and then I knew why we couldn't catch him," said SCA Coach Raymond Bright. "He ran a 9.7."

Pirpich's late-season development and his backfield companions—Larry Brown and Bennie Shepherd—make Tech the preseason favorite in the AFC.

"You take a solid ball club and put them with a quarterback like that and you've got something," Bright said. "I feel that Tech will be one of the best ball clubs ever in the conference."

"Pirpich is a fine scrambler and he has the speed to keep you loose," said Tech Coach Don Dempsey. "However, our passing game last year was terrible and that doesn't even describe it."

Pirpich may not be the best passer in the conference but split end Steve Carter and flanker Rich Thone are exceptional receivers.

"They can make an average passer look good," Bright said. Brown led the conference in rushing last year with 1,118 yards on 270 carries and Shepherd has regained his eligibility.

"His freshman year, Bennie was as well-rounded an athlete as we've ever recruited," Dempsey said. "He's a good receiver and the best blocking back we've ever recruited out of high school. And, he's got the good speed that we like."

"Our situation probably looks better than it may be," Dempsey said. "Our problem and our real success are going to be determined by the development of the offensive line."

Guard Joe Hoing and center Bob Schweiger, both all-conference candidates, should supply the needed experience and the switch of 235-pound tackle Ed Harris from defense should help. Lawrence Fitting, who has played several positions, finished the spring as the No. 1 tight end.

The defense looks sound with Steve Capehart and Gerald Harvill at linebacker, Joe McCaskill and Jimmy Parker at end, Mike Sherry and Al Livesay at tackle. Perry Goodall is the noseman. The secondary should be first-rate with the likes of David Bartlett, Larry Herndon, Gene Hobbs and Roy Eoff.

Southern State, SCA and possibly Arkansas A&M may offer the greatest challenges to the Wonder Boys.

"If we could get the momentum going, we could finish as high as third ... even second," said SSC Coach Rip Powell.

"We've got more people coming back than ever before but 15 of them are going to be sophomores," Powell said.

"There is a lot of difference in experienced junior and seniors and experienced sophomores. We finished the season winning three games in a row and we do feel like our kids gain some poise."

Quarterback Larry Cloninger is one of the few seniors in the starting lineup.

In the final game of the 1969 season, Cloninger guided the Muleriders 68 yards against Arkansas A&M and the wind to beat the Weevils 8-7 with seconds left.

"I can't help but believe that a ball game like that will not only give that young man confidence, but give the people with him confidence," Powell said.

Besides Cloninger, SCA's offensive weapons include flanker Cornell Williams, a game-breaker, and a pair of 200-pound running backs, Ross Oglesby and James Channell.

Bright summed up the SCA situation this way:

"We've got more experience and few problems on offense. That doesn't mean we've got a great offense. It just means we're unsettled on defense."

Bright is hoping senior Mike Lally will fill a three-year void at quarterback.

"He's a fair little passer," Bright said. "In all respects, he gets the job done. His strongest point is his leadership, and the fact that he doesn't make mistakes."

With 6-2, 225-pound LaMonte Bolding at fullback, the Bears will have size and speed. Bill Hubbard, a senior, and Phil Smith, a freshman, are expected to help the running game.

The Bears' defense is not as weak as Bright claims with end Kelly Dunlap, noseman Mike McGinnis and linebackers Mike Isom and Roger Pavan.

A&M's resurgence will depend on quarterback Gary Tate. The Weevils were the preseason favorite last year, but finished last.

Tate showed great promise in 1966-67 and then sat out 1968 to allow a leg operation to heal properly. Last year, he passed for more than 1,000 yards but suffered 22 interceptions.

"They have too much ability on their squad to stay down," Bright said. "If they get everything together, they could be as good as anybody. I'm looking for Tate to bounce back and have a good year. If he does, they'll have plenty of offense."

The offensive line should be sound with guards Elijah Ward and Herbert Head, center Jackie Shook, tackle Mike Furgusson and tight end Bruce Norwood, 6-6, 235-pounder.

With nine starters gone, the defense must be rebuilt.

"We're going to be better than a lot of people think," said new Coach Bill Groce. "We may not win it, or even come close, but I do believe we'll be in every one of our conference games—just like last year and maybe the ball will bounce a little different this time."

Henderson won the championship in 1969 but lost all-everything quarterback Tommy Hart and outstanding tight end Jim Morgan.

Sophomore Richard Faulkner will step in at quarterback and the new running backs will be Charlie Walker and Darrell Horton, a pair of 195-pounders with speed. The offensive line includes all-conference candidates tackle Tom Hogan, guard Roscoe White and center Elwood Edwards.

Graduation claimed the defensive line.

Frank Howard Homer Wins for Senators

By TOM SALADINO

Associated Press Sports Writer

As far as Manager Bill Rigney of the Minnesota Twins is concerned, Frank Howard is the king, especially after the huge Washington slugger trumped his ace.

Howard, the Senators' 6-foot-7, 250-pound left fielder, drove a 460-foot home run off 18-game winner Jim Perry Sunday as the red-hot Senators trounced Minnesota 11-1.

The first-inning, three-run shot was Howard's 36th of the season and increased his American League leading runs batted in total to 101.

"Our ace got trumped," Rigney said afterward. "My man (Perry) didn't look like he wanted to let it all out against Howard. He just couldn't get rolling and we got the heck knocked out of us."

It was the West Division leaders' second-straight loss and 12th in 16 games. However, Minnesota still leads runnerup California by five games.

Meanwhile, the Senators, in last place in the East, 20 games behind Baltimore, won their second in a row and ninth in 12 starts and are only five games under .500.

In other AL contests, Baltimore edged California 6-5, Cleveland topped Oakland 8-6, Chicago split a doubleheader, blanking New York 2-0 before the Yankees won 7-5, Detroit nipped Milwaukee 1-0 and Kansas City nudged Boston 4-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh bombed Los Angeles 11-0, San Francisco trimmed Chicago 4-3, Philadelphia shut out Houston 4-0, St. Louis beat San Diego 8-7, The New York Mets split a pair with Cincinnati, winning 5-4 and then bowing 7-5, and Atlanta at Montreal was rained out.

"Nobody has ever played this game who can hit a ball as far as Howard," said his manager, Ted Williams, the last of the 400 hitters, who also knows something about home runs.

Del Unser also slammed a three-run homer for the Senators who got six-hit pitching from their ace Dick Bosman, 13-9.

Paul Blair drilled a run-scoring ninth-inning single after two were out, helping Mike Cuellar to his 19th triumph, matching teammate Dave McNally as the top winner in the league.

Cuellar, 19-7, gave up nine hits and saw his earned-run streak of 30 consecutive scoreless innings against the Angels shattered in the third when Roger Repoz homered. Jim Spencer had a two-run shot in the eighth, had in years," said Coach Clyde Berry. "Freshmen and sophomores just have to come through for us—that's all. There isn't anybody else."

Harding zipped through its first eight games last fall in 7-0-1 but no longer will the Bisons catch their opponents unaware. Coach John Prock must also replace quarterback Jerry Copeland and tailback Carhley Jones.

The Bisons return their top three receivers — Ronnie Peacock, Harry Starnes and John Manning and fullback Charles Caffey. Prock will choose his quarterback from among Tommy Lewey, Terry Welch and Buddy Malone.

Ouchita had a 5-5 record in 1969, the Tigers' first nonwinning season in five years under Buddy Bob Benson.

"We were not as mentally tough as we used to be and that's got to change," Benson said. "We don't have the personnel to get by on 90 per cent."

Tailback Johnny Baker, fullback James Reynolds and strong-armed quarterback Barry Bennett give Benson the ingredients for a good offense.

Both the offensive and defensive lines appear sound with the likes of Bruce Efrid, David Easley and Bob Theiron on defense and David Barnes, James Lough, David Stroud and Bob Cini opening the holes on offense.

Arkansas AM&N is not eligible for the conference championship this year, but the Golden Lions probably have the best pro prospect in the conference — 265-pound junior tackle Charles Burrell.

"He can play the whole defensive line himself," said Dempsey.

Senior fullback Charles Harkless and freshman Cleophus Miller should give AM&N the basis for an adequate attack.

trying it at 5-5 for the Angels.

Eddie Leon smacked a two-run double in the eighth inning, sending the Indians to their fourth straight triumph. It was the A's seventh loss in eight games. Six homers were hit, four by the A's. Gene Tenace, Blue Moon Odom, Rick Monday and Don Mincher had Oakland's circuits while Jack Heidemann and Graig Nettles had Cleveland's pair.

Rookie Jim Lytle drilled four hits and drove in three runs, enabling the Yankees to grab a split after dropping the opener on Tommy Johns' four-hitter for the White Sox.

Lytle had a two-run double, a sacrifice fly and three singles in the nightcap. The White Sox clubbed three homers, one each by Duane Josephson, Bill Melton and Syd O'Brien.

Mickey Lolich, 12-14, struck out 14 Brewers and allowed only two hits but needed ninth-inning help from Tigers' reliever Tom Timmerman after loading the bases with none out.

Timmerman came on and got the side out on a pair of grounders and a strike out. The Tigers scored the only run of the game in the sixth on Jim Northrup's bloop double.

Bob Johnson tossed a two-hitter for the Royals and a seventh-inning two-run triple by Bob Oliver gave Kansas City its narrow victory over the Red Sox.

One of the hits was a three-run homer by Tony Conigliaro in the fourth after Johnson had walked Reggie Smith and another runner reached on an error. The right-hander struck out 12.

Razorbacks Begin Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)

— The Arkansas Razorbacks began practicing today for their 1970 football season opener Sept. 12 on national television with Stanford.

Players received physical checkups over the weekend and weighed in.

"They look like they're in better condition than any group I've seen since I've been here," said trainer Jim Bone. "I'm real happy with them."

Coach Frank Broyles, however, is concerned about the short preparation period before the first game.

"We're in such a state of flux following our disappointing spring practice that too many decisions are still hanging," Broyles said. "Actually, we will have only about eight days of general practices before we have to turn specifically to getting ready for Stanford. In the past, we've always had at least two weeks prior to our game-week practices."

The biggest question marks for the team this year are in the offensive line where graduation claimed a center, guard and tackle and in the defensive secondary where only halfback Jerry Moore is a sure starter.

"We have entirely too many positions unfilled at this point," Broyles said. "Some players we had groomed to step in for losses didn't come through, and we are still in the dark as to who will be at several positions."

Rod Laver Champ in Tourney

By MIKE COCHRAN

Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Swift, hard-hitting Rod Laver overpowered Australian countryman Roy Emerson 6-3, 7-5 Sunday night and repeated as champion of the $22,500 Colonial National Invitation Tennis Tournament.

Laver, saying later he wasn't much for finesse, picked up $4,000 for the triumph to push his earnings this year past the $135,000 mark.

The loss foiled Emerson's hopes for a tournament victory that has eluded him all season.

Laver, with two tennis grand slams to his credit, said he was happy with his form, that he was having a good year, but this night "I could have been a little more accurate with my smashes."

He added, however, "To smash a ball at nighttime is a little more difficult than daytime."

A writer noted that Laver appeared to hit every shot as hard as possible.

"I haven't got much finesse have I?" Laver smiled. "I'm not much of a touch player, I admit that."

Pittsburgh 11-0 Over Los Angeles

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

If Roberto Clemente ever stops pulling his punches, he's liable to turn the National League race into a demolition derby.

Clemente staggered Los Angeles pitching Sunday with his second straight five-hit binge, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 11-0 triumph, lifting his league-leading batting average to .363 and setting a modern record of 10 hits in two successive games.

The 36-year-old superstar, who had vaulted past Atlanta's Rico Carty in the batting race with a 5-for-7 spree against the Dodgers Saturday night, came right back to drill three singles, a double and his 14th home run in six trips to the plate as the Pirates unleashed a 23-hit barrage—high in the NL this year.

Clemente, however, can see room for self-improvement. "I feel I could hit even better," he said, "if I went out and just punched at the ball. But you can't do that. You have to look at the situation."

"Like when I came up today with the bases loaded. I tried to hit the ball out of the park (and filed out). Most of the time, I'm trying to hit the ball hard, not just punch it."

Clemente's burst and the four-hit pitching of Steve Blass helped the Pirates increase their East Division lead to three games over the second place New York Mets, who divided a doubleheader with Cincinnati's runaway West Division pacesetters.

The Mets won the first game 5-4 with a three-run rally in the ninth, but pinch-hitter Jimmy Stewart's three-run homer off Tom Seaver gave the Reds a 7-5 nod in the nightcap.

Elsewhere, San Francisco nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3; St. Louis outslugged San Diego 8-7 and Philadelphia trimmed Houston 4-0. Atlanta's game at Montreal was rained out.

In the American League, Detroit slipped past Milwaukee 1-0; Baltimore shaded California 6-5; Washington stunned Minnesota 11-1; Cleveland topped Oakland 8-6; Kansas City edged Boston 4-3 and Chicago split a twin-bill with New York, the White Sox winning the opener 2-0 and the Yankees taking the second game 7-5.

Clemente scored four runs and drove in three to key the Pirates' romp, but got plenty of help from his teammates. Bill Mazeroski stroked four hits; Manny Sanguillen, Fred Patek and Matty Alou rapped three apiece and Al Oliver slammed a two-run homer.

The Mets overcame Johnny Bench's 42nd homer in the first game, delayed by a rainstorm for two hours and 15 minutes at the start, as Tommie Agee ripped two homers and two singles and Joe Foy drew a bases-loaded walk from Wayne Granger to cap the three-run ninth.

But Stewart tagged Seaver for his first 1970 homer after seventh-inning singles by Bernie Carbo and Tommy Helms, bringing the Reds from behind in the nightcap. Rookie Don Gullett retired all 12 batters he faced to pick up the victory and struck out six straight Mets, tying a major league mark for relievers.

Pinch-hitter Frank Johnson's bases-loaded single with two out in the ninth created a 3-2 Chicago lead and gave the Giants' Juan Marichal his fifth consecutive victory. Errors by Ron Santo, who had clubbed his 20th homer for the Cubs, and Don Kessinger set the stage for Johnson's two-run poke.

Jose Cardenal delivered five runs with a homer, a double, a bases-loaded walk and a bases-loaded single in the ninth, leading St. Louis past the Padres in a see-saw struggle. The Cardinals scored six runs in the last two innings to win it.

Eagles Working to Rebuild

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer

READING, Pa. (AP) — Coach Jerry Williams is in his second year of rebuilding the Philadelphia Eagles and still has a long way to go. The 1970 Eagles will be lucky to win more than half of their games in the 26-team National Football League.

Williams realizes his problems as indicated by his cautious analysis of the Eagles' possibilities. "We're hoping for a winning season, which means over .500," he says. "We're working to that end. Of course, we're working to win everything, but so are 25 other coaches. We're going to be much prouder of our team this year than we were last."

The Eagles have problems with their offensive blocking, defensive secondary and a lack of squad depth. Injuries in pre-season training have made the rebuilding job even more difficult. Four first line players—Leroy Keyes, Bill Bradley, Dave Graham and Ike Kelley—already have felt the surgeon's knife. Tome Woodeshick, the team's best runner, is beset with pain in his left knee, and starting offensive tackle Joe Carollo has a tender achilles tendon.

One of the problems confronting Williams is his defense. The front four of ends Tim Roosovich and Mel Tom and tackles Gary Pettigrew and Ernie Caloway will have to better last year's record of reaching the opposing quarterback 25 times for losses totaling only 181 yards, if the Eagles are to improve on their 4-9-1 record.

The front four looms even more important because of the inexperienced secondary in which the four starters total 12 years experience. Jim Raye, a cornerback, has been in the league two years but hasn't played in a regular season game. Two rookies, Rick Hetherington from Oklahoma and Ray Jones of Southern University are scrapping for the other corner. At the safety spots are seven year veteran Nate Ramsey and Bo Burris, a three-year man acquired from the New Orleans Saints in a deal for Joe Scarpati.

The Eagles' nucleus on offense is the passing of quarterbacks Norm Snead and George Mira, the receiving of Ben Hawkins, Harold Jackson and Gary Ballman and the running of Woodeshick. Snead threw 23 interceptions last year, but Williams says many of them weren't the passer's fault.

"Snead has a good view of the field, reads defenses well, throws well, is a good leader and is improving his retreat," comments the coach, who also has 1) high praise for Mira. Jackson caught 65 passes last year, Hawkins, 43 and Ballman, 31.

When Williams talks about the interceptions not being all Snead's fault, he's referring to the pass protection by the offensive line. The Eagles must get better blocking in the line both on passes and the rush if the offense is to be productive.

Rookie Mark Mosely, a place-kicking specialist from Stephen F. Austin has been impressive and could make veteran Sam Baker expendable in a trade for offensive line help.

WOULD YOU SAY the occasion went to their heads? Nun's Day at Fenway Park brought out some interesting headgear as well as a good crowd.

Longhorns Try for 2nd Championship

By ROBERT HEARD

Associated Press Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — "It's going out there and beating the hell out of somebody."

That's the way offensive tackle Bobby Wuensch, an All-American candidate and one of defending national collegiate champion Texas co-captains, feels about football.

And you might say it's the general attitude of the whole gang-ho Texas team.

They return their largest senior class over—32 this autumn. The Longhorns are loaded as they try for their second consecutive national championship.

Of course, the competition will be stiff. Take Ohio State for example. They are senior-heavy with the same folks who won the national title as sophomores in 1968.

There's a lot of talk the national championship will fall this season to one or the other.

Texas players would really love to play Ohio State.

"Both senior classes have talked a lot about it," says linebacker Bill Zapalac, one of four Longhorn captains.

"I'm sure it would be an outstanding contest," says fullback Steve Worster, 6-0, 210, the outstanding offensive player, with 155 yards rushing, in the 21-17

Cotton Bowl victory over Notre Dame on New Year's Day.

Linebacker Scott Henderson also says he would like to play Ohio State. "But I'd rather play Penn State because of the controversy last year." The Nittany Lions won 11 straight and complained of being ranked second to Texas.

Worster (rhymes with rooster) and Henderson expected Texas to start off No. 1 this year.

"Ohio State claims it has the best athletes ... but until they go through a season undefeated they're not entitled to be No. 1," says Henderson.

Worster and Zapalac say California (Sept. 19) and UCLA (Oct. 3) will be among the tougher team Texas plays this year. Zapalac also lists Oklahoma—"automatically."

"Some teams would give their eye teeth to beat us because of what they consider unnecessary scoring by us last year," says Henderson. "The first four games (California, Texas Tech, UCLA, Oklahoma) will be real excellent proving ground for Eddie Phillips (successor to quarterback James Street)."

"I'm scared of every team we play," says Wuensch, a 6-3, 235-pound charger who threw wipe-out blocks on critical downs against Notre Dame and in "the big shootout," Texas' 15-14 victory over Arkansas.

"Not scared mentally or physically but scared of what we might do wrong, scared of them in a good way," said Wuensch.

3 Hogs Will Probably Set More Records

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Bill Burnett, 37 touchdowns and 1,799 yards rushing.
Bill Montgomery, 2,928 yards passing and a .557 completion percentage.
Chuck Dicus, 98 receptions for 1,543 yards and 14 touchdowns.
An impressive array of statistics for an impressive trio of performers that make the Arkansas Razorbacks one of the favorites in the Southwest Conference.
In two years, Burnett, Montgomery and Dicus have rewritten a good portion of the Arkansas record book. Those records that are not their's should be before the end of the 1970 season.
Besides school records, Burnett is closing in on conference and national scoring marks.
His 21 six-pointers last season made him the most prolific one-season touchdown artist in conference history. His 37 career touchdowns leave him one short of the four-year career total of 38 by SMU's Doak Walker. Burnett, a mousy looking 189-pounder, also has a crack at the national three-season touchdown record of 54 set by Oklahoma's Steve Owens last year.
"He runs in all directions at the same time," says coach Frank Broyles of Burnett. "Here and there and yonder, never the same way twice. That's the picture the defense gets."
Burnett's rushing yardage leaves him only 29 yards shy of the Arkansas rushing record set by Henry Moore in 1953-55. Montgomery already holds the Arkansas one-season total offense record of 1,834 yards and is only 345 yards short of the career record held by Lamar McHan (1961-63). The super-cool Montgomery already holds the one-season and career passing records.

Dicus, a onetime quarterback from Garland, Tex., has broken the school receiving marks set by Jim Benton in the mid 1930s.
Raymond Berry, an all-pro several times while running pass routes for the Baltimore Colts, arrived in the spring to coach Arkansas receivers and was quickly impressed by Dicus.
"He's a blue-chipper in every respect," Berry said. "He's got speed. He's got quick feet. He can execute any offensive maneuver. I give him a new one and he runs it right the first time, better than I ever did, better than anyone I ever saw."
Broyles admits the offense could be as effective as last year when the Razorbacks rolled up more than 33 points a game. To do so, the young offensive line must produce.
Graduation took All-American center Rodney Brand, All-Southwest Conference guard Jerry Dossey and tackle Bob Stankovich, a two-year starter.
"These offensive replacements are going to have to get good all of a sudden," Broyles said. "Offensive linemen don't look good until they gain some confidence. The offensive line requires more learning than any other phase of our game."
The potential replacements are big and strong.
"They have the physical talents, if they can gain the confidence," Broyles said.
Broyles is relying on his experienced front four to take up the slack defensively. Defensive ends Bruce James and Rick Kersey have started for two years as has defensive tackle Dick Bumpas. Roger Harnish started several games in 1969 and will man the other tackle spot.

defense against scoring last year, permitting less than eight points a game.
"I don't see how we can be that strong," Broyles said. "Jerry Moore is our only sure starter in the defensive secondary. If a defensive player is going to be a complete replacement he moves in and is ready to play. We've got too many positions still unsettled."
Although the experts pick Texas and Arkansas to finish one-two in the SWC again this year, Broyles expects the conference to be stronger.
"There are a lot of second-year quarterbacks this year where there were first-year quarterbacks last year and that do make a difference," Broyles said.

Namath Boomed by Fans

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — "I have nothing to say," said Joe Namath.
But the fans did.
They said what they had to say with boos. They said what they had to say with practiced one-liners. And they said what they had to say with waving white handkerchiefs.
And, while no one can say for certain why they booed the shaggy-haired quarterback of the New York Jets, one thing is certain—Namath was a target for derision Sunday at the Yale Bowl as the Jets lost to the New York Giants 28-24 in a National Football League exhibition game.
Possibly it was events of the last several weeks when he did not report to the Jets camp. Possibly it was the fact he did not play in the emotional game between cross-town rivals. Possibly it was a combination of both.
But whatever it is Namath was an antihero before 70,854 fans as he stood along the sidelines in yellow bellbottoms and blue shirt, hands folded across his chest as the Jets struggled without him.
He watched during a hectic first as Fran Tarkenton, the quiet, conventional Giant quarterback, passed for three touchdowns and Scott Eaton ran 50 yards with an interception for another touchdown the first four times the Giants had the ball.
Then, at halftime, with the Jets trailing 28-3, he marched across the field for a television interview to a serenade of boos and an occasional shout of "Go Back to the Movies, Joe!"
Namath replied with a peace sign—the old World War II victory symbol—but the boos did not abate and the waving handkerchiefs multiplied.
Namath said he would not comment in the dressing room after the game. The Jets' team physician, Dr. James Nicholas, said the decision to keep Na-math out of the game after only four days in camp was made by him.

Coach Weeb Ewbank, obviously unhappy about the loss, said his plans for Namath this coming week were simple: "Increase the tempo."
With three exhibitions to go, Ewbank would like to have Namath play one quarter against Minnesota, two against New Orleans and three against Dallas in preparation for the regular-season opener Sept. 21 against Cleveland.

Swimmers Shatter 12 Records

By BOB EGELKO
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A youthful brigade of swimmers led by Gary Hall of Garden Grove, Calif., has shattered 12 world records in the National AAU championships before a disbelieving crowd at Los Angeles Swim Stadium.

The four-day meet started with a record by Alice Jones of Cincinnati in the 100-meter butterfly, and ended Sunday with one by the Los Angeles Athletic Club in the men's 400-meter freestyle relay.

In between, Hall, a 19-year-old Indiana University junior, set world marks in the 200-meter butterfly (2:05.01), the 400-meter individual medley (4:31.03), and the 200-meter individual medley (2:09.48).

Minutes before Hall's third record Sunday night, John Kinsella, who already had set one record with a 4:02.81 400-meter freestyle, swam history's first sub-16-minute 1,500 meters, touching 24 of a second ahead of Olympic champion Mike Burton in 15:57.10.

Kinsella, a strapping 18-year-old from Hinsdale, Ill., who is bound for Indiana University, had a simple explanation: "I knew I'd have to have a world record to beat Mike."

Hall said he was just following orders. "My coach told me to swim faster," he said.

Others, like Indiana Coach Doc Counsilman, credited the wave-free water and the fact that winners were invited to compete in international meets in Japan and Italy.

Miss Jones, an 18-year-old Cincinnati University sophomore, added the 200-meter butterfly standard (2:19.32) to her 100-meter mark (1:04.11).

Besides Hall, Susie Atwood of Long Beach, Calif. won three races. Joining Kinsella and Miss Jones with multiple victories were Debbie Meyer, Mark Spitz, Mike Stamm, and Brian Job.

Miss Atwood won the 100 and 200-meter backstrokes and the 400-meter individual medley, but finished third in the 200-meter medley Sunday to Lynn Vidali of Santa Clara, Calif., who was timed in 2:26.05.

Miss Meyer, a triple world record holder from Sacramento, Calif., lowered her standard in the 400-meter freestyle to 2:24.34, and breezed home Sunday in the 1,500-meter freestyle in 17:28.43.

Spitz, from Santa Clara, won the 100-meter butterfly and the 200-meter freestyle, then broke world records in the 200-meter butterfly and the 100-meter freestyle in preliminary heats, only to be upset both times in the finals.

His 100 mark of 51.94, which bettered the record of 52:20 set by Australian Michael Wenden in 1968, was not lowered Sunday night, but Frank Heckl of Los Angeles beat him by .01 second in a 52.48 final.

Stamm, an Indiana-bound 17-year-old from San Diego, won the 200-meter backstroke in a world record 2:06.33 and captured the 100-meter backstroke in 58.53, equalling Roland Matthes' American record.

Job, an 18-year-old Stanford sophomore from Santa Clara, swept the breaststrokes, winning the 100-meter in an American record 1:06.49, then taking the 200 in 2:24.12 after setting a world record of 2:23.46 in a preliminary heat.

Other winners Sunday were Cindy Schilling of Santa Susana, Calif., the women's 100-meter freestyle team in 4:06.27.

Heckl, joined Don Havens, Michael Weston and Dan Frawley on the Los Angeles Athletic Club team that lowered the 400-meter freestyle record to 3:28.78, bettering a year-old mark of 3:31.70 by the U.S. national team.

Saturday's other winners were 15-year-old Claudia Clevenger of

Dropout Makes It in Racing

By BLOYS BRITT

Young Pete Hamilton dropped out of college five years ago to become a race driver—an ambition he first realized at age 10. It was the smartest move he ever made.

The blond, 27-year-old son of the former dean of Northeastern University in Massachusetts drove a Petty Plymouth to victory in the Talladega 500-mile stock car race in Alabama Sunday, raising his winnings for the year to $120,560 and his big track skein to three.

Hamilton's average speed for the race was 158.517 miles an hour, a race record for the 2.66-mile Alabama International Speedway.

In other races, Denis Hulme scored his third straight Canadian-American Cup victory by winning the Buckeye Cup, and Al Unser won the Tony Bettenhausen 200 in record time of 1:44:58.995.

Hamilton took charge of the Talladega race shortly after the 50th mile. Although there were other leaders—eight of them, in fact—the Plymouth driver managed to stay in front for 153 of the 188 laps as he wheeled around at lap speeds in the 185 m.p.h. bracket.

Hamilton crossed the finish line 8.9 seconds ahead of Dodge's Bobby Isaac, who pocketed $11,490 to run his own earnings for the year to $87,925. Isaac also picked up valuable points over Ford's James Hylton in the chase for NASCAR's Grand National driving crown that pays upward of $75,000 in bonus money.

Hulme, of England, won $12,000 of the $89,000 purse at Mansfield, Ohio, piloting his Chevrolet-powered McLaren MHD to a record speed of 95.184 m.p.h. for the 192 miles.

Peter Revson of New York was more than one minute behind in his Lola T220.

Hulme thus expanded his Can-Am drivers lead, and now has 72 points. Dan Gurney, who is second, has withdrawn, and Lothar Motschenbacher of Hollywood, Calif. who finished third here, is third in the standings with 39.

Unser, of Albuquerque, N.M., finished more than three laps ahead of Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., as he averaged a record 114.307 m.p.h. on the one mile oval track at the Wisconsin State Fairgrounds at Milwaukee.

Cupertino, Calif., the women's 200-meter breastroke in 2:44.65; Arden Hills, Calif., Swim Club, the women's 800-meter freestyle relay in 8:49.25; and Phillips 66 of Long Beach, the men's 800-meter freestyle relay in 7:47.62, a new American record.

Horse 'Loud' Wins at Saratoga

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — The 101st running of the Travers Stakes at Saratoga was rich, fast and, in the end, Loud.

A crowd of 27,360 turned out at the historic track Saturday to watch Personality, High Echelon and Twice Worthy battle for the leadership of the 3-year-old division.

What they saw was William Haggin Perry's Loud, ridden by Jacinto Vasquez win the richest Travers—$112,900—by a neck over Saul Nadler's Judgable in a track record 2:01 for the 1¼ mile.

In capturing his first stakes, Loud paid a winning mutual of $26 and kept the fight for the 3-year-old championship in the state it's been in all year—uncertain.

Probably the most disappointing performance was turned in by Al Lippe's Twice Worthy, triumphant in his four previous starts this year. The winner of the Monmouth Invitational Handicap finished eighth in a field of nine under 120 pounds.

So impressive had Twice Worthy been that he went off the 9-10 favorite despite the presence of Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' formidable entry of Preakness winner Personality and High Echelon, first in the Belmont Stakes.

Personality, who beat Loud by a neck in the one-mile Jim Dandy Aug. 14, finished fourth under topweight of 128 pounds behind George D. Widener's Plymouth, 114, and ahead of High Echelon, 120.

Loud, who did not race as a 2-year-old, now has four wins and three seconds in ten 1970 starts. The first money of

Soutar Wins Waukegan Pro Bowlers Meet

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Dave Soutar, 30, of Gilroy, Calif., roared back in the final seven games Sunday night to win the $3,000 first prize in the $40,000 Waukegan Professional Bowler's Assn.

Soutar, who had been the leader after 18 games before dropping all the way back to 12th this afternoon, but he rolled 243 in the final game to give him a 41 pin victory over Lefty Johnny Petraglia, a Vietnam veteran from Brooklyn, who moved from third to second to earn $1,600.

Wilkinson Wins Over Hill in Golf

By KAROL STONGER

DARIEN, Conn. (AP) — Martha Wilkinson and Cynthia Hill battled through 34 holes before Miss Wilkinson beat her opponent 3 and 2 for the U.S. Women's Amateur golf championship.

Now they're relaxing together at Miss Hill's South Haven, Mich., home, swimming in Lake Michigan and eating home cooked food.

"Her mother makes the greatest peach shortcake," said Martha, a 21-year-old Whittier, Calif., resident, after beating Miss Hill, 22, for the fourth time in five career contests.

Miss Wilkinson, who took medalist honors at the 70th annual U.S. Golf Association event, came from behind at the 18-hole intermission to win the trophy when Miss Hill dunked her ball in the water surrounding the No. 16 island green at the Wee Burn Country Club course Saturday.

The day wasn't a total loss for Cynthia, low amateur in the U.S. Women's Open at Muskegon, Okla., and a Curtis Cup teammate of the winner.

Both girls, as well as Jane Bastanchury, were selected by the USGA to compete in the Women's World Amateur team championship in Madrid, Spain.

Sept. 30-Oct. 3.

It is the first time Misses Hill and Wilkinson have been named to the team but Miss Bastanchury, 22, a childhood friend of Martha's from Whittier, was a member of the 1968 U.S. defending champion threesome.

The team will compete against women from 23 other countries with the two lowest scores of each of the four days' competition counting toward the team total.

Alternates selected are three other Curtis Cuppers, Shelley Hamlin, 21, Fresno, Calif., who with Miss Bastanchury was knocked out of the Amateur in the semifinal round; Nancy Hager, 17, Dallas, Tex., and Phyllis Preuss, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Absenteeism Embarrassing to Senator

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Embarrassed by absenteeism in a campaign-minded Senate, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield intends to step up the work schedule in hopes of keeping enough members in town to do business.

"We haven't got much choice," Mansfield said. "We have a lot of measures to consider, and not many days to consider them in."

"The members have just got to stay in town—or take their chances if they're out campaigning," the Montana Democrat said.

Monday, August 24, 1970

The first order of business today is leftover from Friday, when absenteeism prevented passage of a $5.2 billion public works appropriations bill.

Only 49 senators showed up to vote on the measure. It takes 51 to do business. The count was 48 to 1 for passage of the bill when the Senate had to adjourn for lack of a quorum.

"That was an embarrassing situation," Mansfield said. "I think what happened may well be a lesson that would sink home."

Mansfield said he may put the Senate on a six-day schedule starting this week. He said he may seek to keep the Senate at work on Saturdays until mid-October.

The attendance problem the Senate encountered Friday certainly will be worse on autumn Saturdays in a congressional election year.

But Mansfield said the work load leaves no alternative. The Senate has spent a month on a $19.2 billion military procurement bill, and Mansfield hopes to complete work on it before a brief Labor Day recess begins on Sept. 3.

But there is further controversy ahead, on amendments seeking a shift from the draft to a volunteer army, and invoking a cutoff on U.S. military operations in Southeast Asia at the end of 1971.

A Life Destroyed

The mindless violence of student radicals is causing more than a dollar loss in school facilities. It often cheats the human race out of years of scholarly research. Take that $100,000 damage done to a Stanford University Research center last week. The blaze did much more than raze the building: it wiped out some 75 years of research.

One man's entire lifetime of research was destroyed. He was M.S. Srinivas of India, regarded as an outstanding sociologist. Srinivas, from the University of Delhi, was one of 10 scientists whose research was destroyed. University spokesmen noted that "What was burned was a life—an entire life totally destroyed by people bent on blind, mindless destruction."

In addition to burning the center and destroying the valuable research work, student "demonstrators" also caused an additional $40,000 damage smashing windows, etc. cetera, elsewhere on the campus.

Such violence attacks much more than the work of one lifetime. It attacks the work of generations in building a society of law and order, which contains the means of peaceful dissent. These "demonstrators" have declared themselves the enemies of that society, and of civilization, and are seeking to destroy it. As destructive as they are, they are not as destructive as those who stand by and permit them to run amuck. — Or those who fail to adequately inform the public of the danger in their midst. — Lynchburg (Va.) Killed in Fall From Cliff

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
JASPER, Ark. (AP) — Officials said Dale Biery, 21, of North Little Rock was killed Sunday when he fell 75 feet from a cliff at Eden Falls in Lost Valley near here.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Biery of North Little Rock.

Would Use Force in Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the United Nations, using force if necessary, should settle the Mideast conflict by restoring pre-war borders and patrolling neutralized zones on both sides.

And, "as an accommodation ... of Israel's mistrust of the United Nations," Fulbright suggests the United States follow up with a treaty guarantee of Israel's security after she withdraws from territories occupied in 1967.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, formally advanced the proposals in a 37-page speech prepared for floor delivery today.

In briefing newsmen earlier, he commented that the plan could "bring the United Nations back to life."

The Arkansas Democrat noted that the U.N. Charter provides the authority to create a police force for keeping peace in the Mideast "but we've never had sufficient identity of interest with the Russians to do it."

But he said that "the weight of evidence indicates that the Russians do indeed want a compromise settlement in the Middle East," and might agree to action by the U.N. Security Council.

Fulbright criticized Israel for "lack of flexibility and foresight" since the June 1967 war and accused it and some sympathizers in this country of exploiting American concern with Soviet involvement.

The senator said that for lack of any formal commitment to Israel, "We do not really know the extent of our own obligation, which could be very great, while Israel does not know what in the way of American support she can rely on."

Education, Busing Issues in Campaign

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Busing and education were the dominant issues as candidates ended their final weekend of campaigning before Tuesday's Republican and Democratic primaries.

Dale Bumpers, a Democrat, said some candidates had "jumped" on the busing issue for "whatever voter appeal it has." He said he did not think busing was an issue in the campaign because he believes the state's voters are uniformly against busing. An issue, he said, is something on which the voters are divided.

Bumpers said busing "obviously" was not going to work and "what we want to do is help the people solve the problem."

James Malone Jr. of Lonoke, another Democrat, followed up by saying he is the only candidate in the race who has a solution to the busing issue.

Malone, who says he is against busing for the sole purpose of achieving a racial balance, said his solution would involve letting the federal government bear the burden of enforcing its orders. He said he was convinced the solution represented the thinking and wishes of all races in the state. Malone also said he would ask all the gubernatorial candidates to adopt his solution and ask Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller to adopt the plan before school opens.

If the governor does not adopt the plan, Malone said, "he should resign since the burden is on the governor now to not establish a precedent that would be hard to undo."

The issue in his solution, Malone said, is "can a federal court order a governor to offer legislation to enact specific appropriations out of state funds to carry out a federal court order."

"They can't force you to do it," Malone said.

"Any governor who has the courage of his convictions to stand in the confines of the sovereignty of his office, and who does not expose the sovereignty of that office with a grandstand play, can successfully resist the distribution of funds," under court orders "if he causes the legal machinery of state government to seek an action for a declaratory judgment from the Supreme Court of the United States," Malone said.

Malone said there was no way the federal government could order something to be done that they can't pay for as long as they don't have the voluntary compliance out of the governor's office.

"When the federal government gets ready to foot the bill for this (busing), they can do it but it will cost more than the Vietnam war to put it into effect across this country," he said.

On education, Democrat Hayes McClerkin said that if PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — John H. Pointer Jr. of Pine Bluff, who has been sentenced to five years for embezzling $32,000 in Jefferson County funds, said Sunday that he would file as a write-in candidate.

Pointer was convicted of embezzling the funds while he was the clerk of Jefferson County. Pointer said he would file for either state senator or state representative before Oct. 1.

He said that his attorney, Kenneth Coffelt of Jacksonville, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, had advised him he could file for office.

Pointer is free on bond while he is appealing his conviction.

Candidates in Final Appeals as Arkansans Go to Polls Tuesday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Candidates for governor readied their final appeals for votes today as Arkansans prepared to make their choices in Tuesday's primaries.

At least nine of the 12 Democratic and Republican candidates have scheduled election-night television appearances tonight.

The state's voters will choose from among eight candidates in the Democratic primary and four in the Republican election. Runoffs will be held Sept. 8 if no candidate receives a majority vote in the preferential voting.

Contested primary races also will be conducted by the Democrats for attorney general and lieutenant governor and by the Republicans for lieutenant governor and secretary of state.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and will close at 7:30 p.m.

The U.S. Weather Bureau says there will be a chance of showers in the southern portion of the state on election day. Highs during the day are expected to range from the mid 80s in the east to the low 90s in the west.

State Auditor Jimmie "Red" Jones has guessed that up to $10,000 of the state's $15,000 registered voters will turn out for the primaries, but several Democratic candidates have said they expect a smaller turnout for their primary than for the party's six-man race in 1968.

Estimates of the Democratic turnout range from $50,000 to $400,000. Almost 415,000 voted in 1968.

Republicans estimate a record turnout of from 50,000 to 100,000 in their primary.

In the GOP primary, Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller is favored to win renomination for a third term over three little-known opponents. They are the Rev. R. J. Hampton, 34, first Negro candidate for governor in 50 years; Lester Gibbs of North Little Rock, 64, former state Revenue Department tax collector, and former radio evangelist James K. "Uncle Mac" McKrell, 69, who ran

Israel Names Eban, Clears Way for Talks

By MARTIN ZUCKER
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel filed its fifth cease-fire violation charge against Egypt Sunday but at the same time cleared the way for the Middle East peace talks to start by naming Foreign Minister Abba Eban as its delegate.

"From Israel's point of view there is now nothing to prevent the talks from starting," a Foreign Ministry spokesman said.

Eban's appointment was announced after a six-hour Cabinet meeting, but he will not enter the negotiations in New York with Jordan and Israel until later because the two Arab nations named their U.N. ambassadors as their delegates.

Accordingly, Israeli Cabinet Secretary Michael Arnon said Yosef Tekoa, Israel's ambassador to the United Nations, would attend the first session as Eban's deputy and after the first meeting would return to Jerusalem to report to the Cabinet.

Gunnar V. Jarring, the special U.N. envoy for the Middle East who is to be the go-between in the indirect talks, is expected to announce the date for the first session soon.

Israel wants the foreign ministers to do the talking because she thinks they are more likely to make progress, and there were indications the Cabinet officials might be brought in during the U.N. General Assembly opening in New York Sept. 15.

Jordanian Foreign Minister Antone Atallah said that despite the designation of Eban's U.N. ambassador will continue as his representative. But he added that he will be in New York for the opening of the General Assembly Sept. 15. Eban and Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Rida also are expected to attend the assembly opening.

Israel's new cease-fire complaint filed with U.N. observers charged that Egypt is continuing construction on missile bases within 30 miles of the canal. No details were announced. The cease-fire specifies that no new military installations are to be built in a 30-mile zone on either side of the Suez Canal.

The Israeli government had delayed its agreement to go ahead with the peace talks while making its earlier charges that Egypt has moving anti-aircraft missiles closer to the canal. But the United States failed to support the Israeli charges.

Premier Golda Meir told an international fund-raising meeting in Tel Aviv Sunday, "I don't deny that we are worried about our friends being with us," an apparent slap at American inaction on the earlier Israeli charges.

She said Israel is entering the "so-called peace negotiations" in good faith with hopes they will "end with peace agreements." But she warned that her government "will not accept a make-believe peace."

Weather Is Expected to Be Fair, Mild

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arkansas weather is expected to be fair and mild with warm days and cool nights through Tuesday. Little or no rain is forecast.

A cool high pressure area that extended from northern Louisiana to Canada was expected to remain until mid-week, keeping Arkansas temperatures cooler than usual. A warming trend is expected Wednesday.

Although cool temperatures are forecast through Tuesday, skies are expected to be clear and sunny.

Highs Sunday ranged from 65 at Fort Smith to 82 at Harrison. Overnight lows included 54 at Fayetteville, 58 at Harrison, 63 at Jonesboro, 65 at Pine Bluff, 65 at Texarkana, 67 at El Dorado, 63 at Memphis, 64 at Little Rock and 62 at Fort Smith.

Advisers, Businessmen Meet With President to Discuss Economy

By FRANCES LEWINE

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) President Nixon welcomes a big group of economic advisers, western news executives and top businessmen at the Western White House today to discuss the nation's economy and foreign policy.

He goes back to work at his oceanfront office after a quiet weekend with his family at his Spanish-style California vacation home.

The big four of financial advisers came here to meet with Nixon this morning in the wake of optimism that boosted the stock market last week. The industrial average was up almost 16 points.

One of the foursome, Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, accounted for some of the good news when he declared last week that the economic downturn had run its course.

Along with Secretary of the Treasury David Kennedy, Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns and Director George Shultz of the Office of Management and Budget, the

Korea to Get U.S. Phantom Jet Fighters

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
SEOUL (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told South Korea today that the United States is transferring a wing of F4 Phantom jet fighters from Japan to Korea and will supply additional military assistance, including planes with special radar equipment to detect infiltrating North Korean boats.

Arriving in Seoul for a two-day visit to reaffirm U.S. intentions of helping South Korea's anti-Communist government, Agnew announced the new military aid in a speech at City Hall Plaza before paying a courtesy call on President Chung Hee Park.

The new aid is intended to ease South Korean objections to the U.S. decision to withdraw by next June 30 some 20,000 of the 32,000 U.S. troops in Korea. The vice president did not go into details. A week ago, the New York Times reported that the arrival of the Phantom wing—three squadrons totaling 54

Big Bombers Hit Enemy Near DMZ

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers flew to within a mile of the demilitarized zone today to strike at new North Vietnamese threats to an allied artillery base that was under siege for 43 days last spring.

Twenty of the giant stratofortresses dropped 600 tons of bombs on bunkers, base camps and storage and staging areas six miles west of Fire Base Fuller.

The artillery base was manned by Americans and South Vietnamese until last spring when U.S. troops pulled out after the 43-day siege and turned it over to the Vietnamese. A little more than a week ago, enemy shelling inflicted heavy casualties on the South Vietnamese at the base.

Fuller is one of more than a dozen allied artillery bases located along the DMZ and the northwest border with Laos to guard against infiltration into the populous coastal lowlands. Fuller is 22 miles east of the Laotian border and four miles south of the DMZ.

Ground action in both South Vietnam and Cambodia was reported light with only small skirmishes.

While no significant action was reported around Fire Base Fuller, the B52 bombers were sent into the region in an effort to prevent North Vietnamese troops from massing for assaults on the base.

Informed sources said there were also indications that elements of at least two North Vietnamese divisions were trying to move from Cambodia closer to the South Vietnamese border in the region northwest of Saigon.

These sources said that despite heavy American bombing raids, North Vietnamese supply lines through Laos toward Cambodia and South Vietnam appeared to be "fairly open."

Informed sources in Saigon confirmed that American fighter-bombers carried out heavy raids Aug. 9-11 in the Parrot's Beak region of Cambodia about 75 miles northwest of Saigon. They were trying to prevent the return of the North Vietnamese troops chased out when they went into the Cambodian border region last May.

The Cambodian military spokesman in Phnom Penh said villagers in the area reported the American planes destroyed a major enemy base camp and killed some 500 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, but there was no confirmation of the casualty report.

He said that polls show him finishing second to former Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Six Killed on Highways in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Six persons lost their lives on Arkansas' highways this past weekend.

The Associated Press count of weekend fatalities began at 6 p. m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

Police said Bowman Taylor, 61, of near Crossett was killed Sunday on U.S. 82 near Crossett, when the car he was driving was struck by another car.

Officials said Taylor was attempting to turn into a trailer park when his car was struck by a car driven by Guy Ward of near Strong.

Taylor's wife was injured in the accident.

A Missouri woman, Ella Koepf, 67, of Perryville, Mo., was killed Sunday in a three-car pileup at the junction of U. S. 64 and Arkansas 17 at McCrory.

Police said Terry Funderburd, 28, of Monticello was killed Saturday when the car in which he was riding collided with a bus carrying 28 Bradley County young people.

Officers said the bus was returning from "Youth Day" at Winrock Farm, when it was struck by a car driven by Funderburd's wife on Arkansas 15 near Warren.

None of the passengers in the bus was injured.

A 10-year-old Morrilton youth, Richard Jones, was killed Saturday when the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car on U.S. 64 near Morrilton.

Authorities said Owens Freeman, 32, of Pine Bluff was killed Friday night when his car crossed the center line of U.S. 65 and struck a tractor-trailer truck near Pine Bluff.

Dorris Daugherty, 33, of Little Rock was killed Friday when the car in which she was riding collided headon with another car in Malvern.

Central High Extension Is Discussed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —About 55 persons attended a meeting Sunday to discuss legally attempting to extend the boundaries of Central High School here to maintain the school's white majority.

Mrs. Margaret Kolb, president of Central's PTA, said Sunday the issue was an interpretation of federal Judge J. Smith Henley's order to the Little Rock School Board to change Central's attendance zone to "prevent any early re-segregation" of Central.

Henley told the board to submit the zone plan to him by Sept. 1.

Mrs. Kolb said that until school opens it is not known whether Central will retain its white majority in the 10th grade, since Horace Mann has been ordered closed and about 200 Horace Mann students will be assigned to Central.

Henley ordered the predominantly - Negro Horace Mann school closed.

Sunday, members of the group contributed money towards filing a legal brief in the matter. Herbert C. Rule III has been retained as the attorney for the case.

Mrs. Kolb said the group was not against integration but wanted to maintain a ratio at the school equal to that ratio within the entire school district.

"We believe in a unitary school system," she said. But she said, "We think it is wise to let all secondary schools of the system have racial proportions representative of the community's racial proportions."

$359 Million Paid Out to Indians

By DILLON GRAHAM

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Indian Claims Commission has approved claims totaling $359 million since its inception in 1946. But time is running out.

With little over half its work done, the commission is set to expire on April 10, 1972. A total of 290 claims valued at an estimated $150 million remain to be settled.

The Seminole, for example, think they should receive handsome compensation for most of Florida, which they owned prior to an 1823 treaty with the United States. A battle still rages over what they will get for it.

The Turtle Mountain Chipewas once owned seven million acres of North Dakota and a fair price for it has been disputed for four decades and two presidential vetoes. It still remains to be resolved by the commission.

The commission, set up in 1946 for 10 years to hasten justice for the Indians, has been given three five-year extensions, and Congressmen warned that the 1967 extension would be the last.

"Everyone is frustrated by its inability to get these claims concluded," one senator expressed the exasperation of the lawmakers.

Commission Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall says the panel has been struggling with claims based on old treaties stretching back to Indian wars 150 years ago.

The commission cannot possibly conclude its pending cases in the time remaining, Kuykendall said, but one more extension would do it.

"We have a program that can see it through in an additional five years," he said. "We know what we have to do now and have a goal set for each member of our legal staff."

Congress added two more members to the former three-member commission in 1967, and Kuykendall, a former Federal Power Commission chairman, has streamlined the procedures and added new staff.

The old commission disposed of only about half its cases in more than 21 years. Kuykendall claims that with an extension the present commission can conclude as many cases in half the time.

Each case is heard by a single commissioner, much as a judge hears cases in federal courts, who reviews the evidence and drafts proposed findings. But the entire commission, meeting weekly, approves the final verdict.

The decision of the commission may be appealed to the U.S. Court of Claims. Two have gone all the way to the Supreme Court. Once the claim is finally concluded and all appeals cleared up, the Commission reports its determination to Congress.

Congress then must appropriate the funds to pay the judgment along with a distribution act which determines exactly who gets the money.

Some judgments are distributed per capita to tribe members while others are paid to the tribe. The Bureau of Indian Affairs works out the distribution.

In addition to hearing cases, the commission has the power to investigate them if necessary. Kuykendall says the commission plans to do this in a handful of cases where Indian tribes filed claims years ago but for various reasons, such as not being able to obtain a lawyer, have not followed through.

Actually only a few attorneys specialize in Indian claims. Most cases before the commission are handled by probably less than a dozen lawyers or firms.

The Justice Department represents the government in the claims cases, and about 19 department lawyers are assigned to Indian cases.

The commission was created to clear up a backlog of cases extending back into history. Any claims arising from injuries or land loss occurring after 1946 are filed in the Court of Claims.

Most are land claims, but others include damages for various kinds of mismanagement by the government of tribal funds on deposit with the Treasury, removal of minerals or timber from tribal lands, diversion of irrigation water, loss of hunting and fishing rights. Some have claimed unlawful removal of a tribe from its home and unlawful arrest of the tribe.

Many tribes would like to get back the land they claim was taken from them. "But all we have authority to do is to award them money," Kuykendall said.

The largest amount paid in any one case was the $29.1 million awarded the Indians of California in 1964. The Sac and Fox Indians got $10.8 million earlier this year in one of several claims.

To encourage them to be interested. To get involved. It is extremely important that you vote. And that you vote in the Republican Primary.

Since becoming a member of the Arkansas House of Representatives in 1957, I've realized how important it is that every eligible voter go to the polls and vote for his candidate. For it is only through an honest consensus of the electorate that any man can truly serve the people.

First, Hope is now in a new district, 4 AA West, with a 10 game schedule. After the 10 games, there will be a playoff between District 4 AA West and District 4 AA East. The schedule this year will include Sheridan but not DeQueen, and only one game is scheduled with a school in Camden because Camden High and Camden-Lincoln have been consolidated. The Bobcat offense has been changed to offset some vacancies left by graduating seniors. In Coach Higgins' opinion, the toughest teams in the conference this year will be Arkadelphia, Camden and Malvern.

Pro Bureaucrats Are Ready to Get Public Back to Standstill

By GORDON BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bothered by progress and understanding? The National Association of Professional Bureaucrats stands ready to help get you back to a confused and furious standstill.

A champion of the status quo, governmentese and gobbledegook, the association has entangled its tongue in cheek for two years to obliterate achievement and clarity with entrenchment and obfuscation.

With its motto "when in doubt, mumble" and its coat of arms a rampant duck snarled in red tape, NATAPROBU now boasts some 300 members and claims an international division.

Its arsenal to defend the bureaucracy includes the backslip—a ready checklist of phrases to help the bureaucrat pass the buck—phrases like "per your request" and "let's discuss at lunch; your club."

Then there's the invaluable list of buzz word projections calculated to help the bureaucrat "speak with orchestrated rhetorical integrity."

With this list, he can put together such clear, concise, empirical determinism, or "incrementalized analytical infrastructure."

There also is the handy-dandy employee performance evaluation chart which gives high ratings to a subordinate who "writes with adjective integrity; presents ideas with maximized deliberative options" but which fails the employee who executes policy and can be understood.

Helpful also is NATAPROBU's executive pencil with an eraser on each end.

The organization motto comes from the guidelines enunciated by James H. Boren, founder, president and chairman of the board for the association.

These guidelines, which all bureaucratic members are required to memorize, are: "when in charge, ponder; when in trouble, delegate; when in doubt, mumble."

Boren is a qualified bureaucrat, having spent 13 years in government service, four as administrative assistant to Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and nine with the Agency for International Development.

The idea for NATAPROBU came to Boren in a bright flashing revelation, he says, on April 1, 1968, at an unusually dull meeting in the State Department building.

After three hours, he said, it came to him "that there can be beauty in a bag of mush and excitement in applying the principle of dynamic inactivity."

So NATAPROBU was born,

The Suffrage Banquet theme will be "you've come a long way Ladies". It is a celebration of the Golden Anniversary of Women winning the right to vote Aug. 25, 1920. Highlights will include a musical skit featuring women in appropriate costumes from the year 1820 to the present day.

Governor Winthrop Rockefeller will introduce Mrs. Elston. The Banquet will be held in the ballroom of the Hotel dedicated to the principle of giving "recognition to the articulate fingertips of the world who, by their steadfast dedication to the principle of dynamic inactivity, have kept things from happening and thereby prevented mistakes from being made."

Boren concedes that while the whole thing is a big spoof, some beneficial changes in bureaucracy might be brought about by kidding the system.

DOUGHTY

'Smashing' David Frost Is Interviewer's Interviewer

By ROGER DOUGHTY

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Once upon a time David Frost was a kid in England who wanted to grow up to be the best soccer player in the world. If you can believe his publicity people, he grew up to be the world's greatest interviewer instead.

I first ran into David, or to be correct, he ran into me, in a theatre in New York where he stepped on my shoe.

He said, "Excuse me."

Then I saw him a few months later in a midtown restaurant, where he interrupted an interview I was doing with Michael Caine. He said he just wanted to say "hello" to Caine.

Considering that Frost is the kind of guy who delights in taking on the likes of Orson Welles or Peter Ustinov one-on-one for 90 minutes on his TV show, his brief conversations with me weren't exactly snappy. So I figured I'd give him his best shots by interviewing him on what it's like to be billed as the world's greatest interviewer.

"Frankly," admitted David, puffing away on a long, skinny cigar, "the more people say I'm the world's greatest interviewer the lovelier it sounds. But one must never consider oneself in such terms, even if one believes it."

The scene of all this smashing dialogue (smashing is one of David's favorite words) was the back seat of his limousine, which was doing its best to get through a typical high noon traffic jam in midtown Manhattan. David, it turned out, was on his way to have lunch with Charlotte Ford Niarchos at one of New York's more lush eating places.

The trouble with interviewing Frost, I soon found out, was that he's been a professional interviewer so long he can't be happy unless he's interviewing you.

The following exchange was typical:

Me: "David, what one quality would you say is most important when it comes to being a good interviewer?"

David: "I'd say the quality of being a good listener. It's very important that the show be more than a platform for the host. But you probably do as much interviewing as I do. What one quality do you think is most important?"

Trying my best to explain that I was supposed to be interviewing him, I agreed, then asked David if there was ever a time when he wanted to be something other than what he is today.

"Indeed there was," he admitted, puffing away on his cigar. "I once wanted to be a soccer player for Newcastle United, probably because I liked their black and white striped shirts so much. And I wanted to be a train driver, but every kid in England does. Do children in this country want to be train drivers? Was that one of your ambitions as a boy?"

Allowing as how it never was, I tried to shift David onto the subject of commuting. Seems he zips back and forth between New York and London like most commuters make it to New Jersey. You'd think he'd get tired of all that traveling, right?

"Not at all," smiled David, "traveling can really be quite creative (creative is another one of his favorite words) and I rather enjoy it. Besides, I probably spend less time running off to England than you do commuting to your office. Where do you live?"

Fending off that one (I spend four hours a day on the train and he had me again), I tried to get David to talk about his most interesting projects these days.

"Well," he said, continuing to puff away, "I have a book in the works called 'The Americans.' It's sort of a sequel to my book of two years ago, 'The British.' And I have another book in mind that would deal with the difference in the way that the English speak English as opposed to the way that the Americans speak English."

Just then the limousine rolled to a stop in front of the restaurant and David stepped out to the street, where he was immediately engulfed by fans.

"What I had in mind," he shouted, as he melted into the crowd, "is that I've always been intrigued by American terms like 'lay an egg.' That's supposed to be something bad here, but I've always thought that laying an egg would be something terribly creative to do."

One of the hardest perennials in the garden of consumer come-ons is the freezer-food plan.

"The suede-shoe boys are nowhere near as common as they once were," one Better Business Bureau official reports, "but you can bet they are still out there. We still get complaints."

A freezer-food plan is an arrangement through which a householder buys or rents a freezer, and then is supplied with periodic shipments of frozen food in bulk. For this service he pays a monthly charge that covers payments on both food and freezer.

There is no reason why a freezer-food plan cannot be an economical and convenient way to feed a family. Those that usually do so for one of two reasons:

Either the customer expects more from the plan than it can deliver (perhaps as a result of too enthusiastic salesmanship) or the plan has fraudulent overtones.

There are a number of ways to protect yourself against being trapped into a bad plan. Your own common sense will be your best protection. If a freezer plan is presented in terms that seem unbelievable, don't believe it.

A study by the Federal Trade Commission revealed four common deceptive practices, any one of which sounds too good to be true. Would you sign on if the salesman claimed:

• That you would save enough on the food purchased to pay for the freezer?

• That the initial food order would be sufficient to last for six months?

• That both the appliance and the foodstuffs carried a money-back guarantee?

• That the freezer was free if the customer purchased the food?

If so, you would be stuck, as each of these claims was found to be false.

You'll be less likely to be trapped or disappointed if you assume that a freezer plan is most apt to pay off in convenience rather than savings. It is nice to have meats and vegetables delivered to your door, but you aren't likely to save much in the process.

It will inject a note of realism into a freezer-food plan if you can estimate the value of the freezer alone. Sometimes, fascination with the machinery pushes the rest of the deal out of focus.

GOOD GUTTERS REQUIRE FREQUENT TOUCH-UPS

Gutters and downspouts need frequent touching-up with paint, more often than the house does. They also require regular inspection and cleaning.

Even if you do not intend to paint this fall you may find that the gutters could stand a touch-up. And if you do plan to paint, getting the gutters out of the way now will make the large job go faster later on.

Take along a wire brush to get rid of debris when you climb the ladder to begin your inspection. Use a screw driver to probe rust spots for soundness.

Aside from leaves, you will find gutters cluttered with soot and grit washed down from the roof. Don't be surprised at a bird's nest as well.

With the debris out of the way you will be able to see the metal underneath. If it is sound some fresh paint is all you need.

If the metal is rusted, clean and sand it before painting. Use a wire brush for the big dirt, emery cloth for the final cleanup.

Page Nine

Before painting give the rusted area a prime coat. Some people swear by old-fashioned red lead. The newer rust preventative paints have the advantage of being able to be used over a thin coat of rust so long as the metal is sound.

No matter what kind of primer you use, get rid of all large flakes of rust and all dirt.

Tiny holes or cracks in the metal should be covered with asbestos roof coating after the metal has been primed.

Larger openings should be patched. Materials for patches are many and can be found around the home—roof felt, deck canvas, heavy aluminum foil, glass fiber cloth are examples.

Vermont, in 1896, became the first state authorizing citizens to vote by absentee ballot, according to Encyclopedia Britannica.

Treatment Is Dependent On Underlying Cause

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—What is the cause and treatment of Cushing's syndrome? What is the adrenogenital syndrome?

A—Cushing's syndrome is caused by overactivity of the adrenals. The underlying cause may be a defect in a part of the brain called the hypothalamus (70 per cent of the cases), a tumor of the pituitary or the adrenals or prolonged use of cortisone-like drugs.

The result is a tendency to waterlogging, easy fatigability, weakness, irritability, depression and excessive growth of hair over much of the body. The treatment would depend on the underlying cause. Aminoglutethimide (Elipten) may be helpful but in many cases removal of the tumor is the only satisfactory treatment.

The adrenogenital (Froelich's) syndrome is another disturbance of the hypothalamus and pituitary. It is congenital and is characterized by obesity and failure to mature sexually.

In the adrenogenital syndrome there is a congenital increase in the adrenal cortex and an increase in male hormone.

Q—Would an adrenal tumor the size of a golfball cause one to feel peppish?

A—Weakness and easy fatigability are commonly seen in persons with an adrenal tumor—even tumors that are much smaller than a golf ball.

Q—What are the symptoms of senility? At what age do they appear?

A—Although aging affects all parts of the body, they are not necessarily affected at a uniform rate. The most troublesome symptoms are those affecting the brain. They are not the direct effect of age but are caused by impaired circulation, usually due to hardening of the arteries. They are evident in some persons at 40 while others escape well into their 90s or beyond.

There is usually a gradual loss of memory which is most acute for recent events. The victim remembers some aspects of his childhood vividly but can't tell you what he had for breakfast. There may be a series of small strokes, manifested only by a subtle change of personality. A tidy man becomes sloppy, a well-mannered man begins to use obscene language, an irascible man becomes crotchety. The only treatment is patience and tender, loving care.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Carrie Nation was a temperance agitator in Kansas around 1900. Her fierce hatred of saloons led her to venture into them and destroy the premises and liquor with a hatchet. The World Almanac recalls. She considered herself within the law, as Kansas was a prohibition state. She paid court costs by lecturing and selling souvenir hatchets.

Thornton Says Voters Pay Him Compliments

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ray Thornton Jr. of Sheridan, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney general, said Sunday that he had been complimented by voters on the "way I've run a clean and positive campaign."

Thornton appeared on a televised program Sunday night with family friends and business associates who attested to his ability to hold public office.

"My youthful opponent has presented no program of his own, but rather has concentrated his entire campaign in vicious personal attacks on me

Law or Accounting Degree Needed for Career in FBI

Not sure which bag is yours, young man or woman?

If you're uncertain about your career plans, keep an eye on Ernie Hood's column, "So You Want To Be," in this newspaper. You'll learn about jobs you never knew existed, and you'll see a new side of jobs you never considered for your career as Hood answers questions sent in from all over the country by young people who are wondering, as you are, what job will best suit them.

By ERNIE HOOD

Sandy, Puyallup, Wash., asks: "How do I get into the FBI?"

Dear Sandy: To be eligible for appointment as an FBI agent, an applicant must have graduated from a state-accredited resident law school or a four-year resident college with a major in accounting.

The law school training must have been preceded by at least two years of resident undergraduate work. Accounting graduates also must have had at least three years of experience in accounting or auditing or a combination of both.

Applicants must be male United States citizens at least 23 and not more than 40 years of age, and willing to serve anywhere in the U.S. or Puerto Rico. They must be at least 5 feet 7 inches tall and capable of strenuous physical exertion; they must have excellent hearing and vision, normal color perception and no physical defects that would prevent their using firearms or participating in dangerous assignments.

Each applicant must pass a rigid physical examination, as well as written and oral examinations testing his knowledge of law or accounting. All of the tests except the physical examinations are given by the Federal Bureau of Investigation at its facilities in the U.S. Department of Justice.

While it is impossible to forecast personnel requirements, employment may be expected to increase with growing FBI responsibilities. Starting salary is close to $10,000 a year. There are about 7,000 agents presently employed.

Cheryl, Las Vegas, Nev., writes: "I'd like to know about career opportunities for dress designers."

Dear Cheryl: Employment in the apparel industry is expected to increase moderately all through the 1970s as demand for apparel grows. About three-fourths of the more than 1.5 million employed in the industry are women.

Typically, the manufacturing process begins with the designer, who creates original types and styles of apparel. The designers may get their ideas by visiting museums, libraries and major fashion centers in both the U.S. and Europe, then make sketches and present them to management and sales staffs for approval.

Since designing is a creative job, designers usually work without close supervision, but they must produce a satisfactory number of successful styles during a season, especially when designing women's fashion garments. A large garment manufacturer generally has one designer and several assistants.

Many small plants and factories making standardized garments do not employ designers, but purchase ready-made designs or patterns.

Short-short to Fred Q., Elk Horn, Ky.: In answer to your question, a "hot-cell technician" is an occupational category in the atomic energy field. He operates remote-controlled equipment to test radioactive materials that are placed in hot cells—rooms that are enclosed with radiation-shielding materials, such as lead and concrete.

If you have a question about a career field, write to SO YOU WANT TO BE in care of Newspaper Enterprise Assn., 230 Park Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Travel-Recreation

By JIM CROSSLEY

Topping the list of the many pleasant late summer travel attractions in the Midwest is a venture into nostalgia called the Hambletonian.

Each year a special breed of horses, the trotters, have their day of glory at this harness race classic. The Hambletonian has become the Kentucky Derby of the sulky racers.

Again this year—the date is Sept. 2—the charming pageant will be staged as the climax of a Grand Circuit program of racing at the Du Quoin, Ill., State Fair. It's pure sport, not a gambling orgy. State law prohibits bet-

The network of interstate roads makes the event more readily available to many additional adventure seekers. There's even a sulky-jet plane parlay this year. The Air Illinois line is flying visitors in from St. Louis.

Thirteen years ago when the decision to move the race from Goshen, N.Y., 60 miles from New York City, to southern Illinois was announced, many sports buffs said the Hambletonian would be lost in the wilderness.

They didn't count on the love of many Americans for the David Harum days of their grandfathers... a love of times when each town like Du Quoin had its own apothecary, its soda shops with wire-backed chairs and huge ice cream cones that dripped down the sides.

Those who attend step back into those past surroundings. The race is within arm's length of everyone. The racers are hitched and shod before your eyes and little boys rub elbows with sun-browned ranchers and graying veterans of the farms and hills of the tall corn country who come from Indiana, Kentucky, Iowa and Missouri for the big day.

The race goes back to 1926 when it was inaugurated at Syracuse, N.Y. Its tap root, however, lies even deeper. In 1788, a horse named Messenger was imported from England. The blood lines of Dutch horses, natural trotters, were joined with his in breeding. One of his offspring, Hambletonian, founded the strain that has produced 90 per cent of trotters born since then.

Family horses to pull buggies and sleighs smoothly was the objective and the trotting gait was what developed. So the annual track classic is a true memorial to simpler days when countrymen drag-raced their neighbors to see who had the fastest buggy horse.

No more fitting Currier and Ives backdrop than Du Quoin could have been selected for this so typically American race.

Visitors will most certainly want to include tours of the surrounding countryside, rich in Indian folklore. They can sign up for trips to such colorful spots as Bald Knob Cross, Devil's Backbone Park, Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge, Garden of the Gods in Shawnee National Forest, Cave-In-Rock State Park, Old Rose Hotel (oldest in Illinois) and the Old State House.

A bit farther away is Lincolnland where are located the home of the former president and many scenes of his childhood and early manhood, including the reconstructed village of New Salem where Abraham Lincoln spent his youth. For a longer vacation trip, Du Quoin is also the gateway to the Ozarks, just to the southwest.

FEARS AND DUTY

NEW YORK (AP) — Declaring that "white racism is an expression of the power of evil," the Rev. C. Freeman Sleeper, of Trinity College, writes in a new book issued by Abingdon, "Black Power and Christian Responsibility," that Christians must rise above their fears and desire for security to "identify ourselves" with the black drive for change. It involves danger, he says, but the gospel demands it.

TIMELY QUOTES

We're not a dangerous neighborhood. We don't want policemen with fingers on shotguns patrolling our area. If our community is so dangerous, why are the white bill collectors not afraid to go there?

—P. J. Young, resident of a Pompano Beach, Fla., neighborhood where a Negro was killed by a policeman.
